

JANOWSKI SECOND AND HAJES THIRD

Former Beats Kupchik and Latter Downs Kostic in Closing Games.

BOTH DUELS INTERESTING

Beautiful position play earned for David Janowski the second prize in the Rice memorial chess masters tournament, which was concluded at the Cafe Boulevard, Broadway and Forty-first street, yesterday, in addition to the distinction of being placed next to Capablanca of Havana, winner of the chief prize. The French champion's opponent in the final and deciding game was A. Kupchik, the New York State champion, who was kept on the defensive throughout the entire game, which lasted forty-four moves. At that stage Kupchik was constrained to resign the game.

The work of Oscar Prospekt, secretary of the Isaac L. Rice Progressive Chess Club, who followed up his great work of the day before, when he defeated Capablanca, with a victory over Kostic, the Serbian expert, was the outstanding feature in the final stage of the tournament. As a result he carried off the third prize despite the fact that he entered the supplementary tournament with the lowest score.

Players: W. L. Capablanca 11, 2 Kostic 10, 3 Janowski 11, 4 Kupchik 10, 5 Hajes 9, 6 Prospekt 8, 7 ...

COLUMBIA FEARS QUAKER FIVE.

Calder and Peterson Missing for Alumni Day Game to-night.

Columbia's basketball league contests will be resumed to-night when Pennsylvania comes to Morris Heights for the annual alumni day game. It is three weeks since Yale downed the Blue and White quintet in the play of the Columbia team. The loss of Eddy Calder, while it has weakened the team greatly, will make Coach Fisher's charges fight all the harder to show the graduates that basketball can experience a revival as well as crew and football.

Jack Wegeier has been declared eligible to play. The star center of two years ago practised yesterday and showed enough of his old time speed to warrant playing on the team. Fisher isn't conceding that Wegeier's return will compensate for the loss of Calder, but he does think it will help some, even against a team which has the Intercollegiate Basketball League race. Dartmouth plays Yale at Hanover to-night. Whatever are the results in the two games, Columbia will hope to extricate itself from last place. Columbia followers hope to win and so tighten up the race for the championship.

Tempting offers have been made by members of the basketball team to the day Peterson to stay with them and help them win to-night, but he has cast his lot with the wrestling team which meets Yale at New Haven, Peterson as trainer of the football and basketball teams. On occasions when he had to be absent the basketball team has lost. He is coach of the wrestling team, which he considers more important than trainer of the basketball squad. He will accompany the grapplers and leave the members of the quintet to win on their merits. In spite of this he will be at the game of the alumni day festivities the basketball game will not start until 9 o'clock.

COLUMBIA NAVY JUMPS AHEAD.

Ninety-one Men Report to Rice—Dunn to Lead Crews.

Columbia's crew squad jumped to ninety-one men yesterday when Coach James C. Rice called the candidates for the new quarters. University of Hull, America's late comers, Tishborne and Peris of last year's varsity and Rene Wormser of the 1914 freshman eight. Tishborne rowed No. 7 on the varsity at Cambridge, England, last year, but was declared ineligible ten days before the race. It was found that an error had been made in the registrar's books and he was allowed to return to the squad two days later. The prophecy that the squad will reach the hundred mark now seems assured.

E. S. Dunn, a sailing captain of the freshman football team and regular left halfback, was elected captain of the crew squad yesterday. Dunn wasn't out for crew last fall because it conflicted with football practice. With the biggest swing in history, everything in the Columbia crew will have a new freshman crew, something Coach Rice hasn't enjoyed since 1911. The new crewman material he has surpassed the rowing world by continually turning out formidable varsity eight. He believes that with a few experienced freshmen crews victories in the big races will come more often in the next few years.

Columbia Outshoots Aggies.

Returned received from Washington yesterday show that Columbia defeated the Connecticut Aggies at rifle shooting by a score of 94 to 94. The first two meets were won by the Columbia gunmen, one to Harvard by a score of 92 to 93 and the other to Rensselaer by a score of 96 to 93. In their fourth meet the Blue and White riflemen jumped to 982, and in view of the poor scores of its opponent, Penn State, to date, Columbia believes it has another victory. The two teams of the officers of the National Guard. The scores are sent to Washington and the winner determined there.

Local Five to Play Deciding Game

The basketball teams of New York University and the City of New York will play their annual game on the latter's court to-night. Besides being the feature game of both colleges this season the outcome will decide a series of games between the two rival New York fives played since 1914. In that year the C. C. N. Y. five defeated N. Y. U. by a score of 22 to 20, while the latter came out at the long end of a 17 to 16 score.

New Rochelle Claims Title.

New Rochelle High School claims the scholastic hockey championship of New York and New Jersey because of a victory over the City of New York team in the latter's court to-night. Besides being the feature game of both colleges this season the outcome will decide a series of games between the two rival New York fives played since 1914. In that year the C. C. N. TRADE EXPANDS APART FROM BIG WAR ORDERS

Internal Demand Results in Less Dependence Upon Foreign Business.

BOTH DUELS INTERESTING

Growing business that is less dependent upon foreign orders is reported in the weekly trade reviews.

Business: "Less dependence is placed upon foreign business as internal demands show further expansion. War contracts still bulk large, but strictly domestic requirements are an increasingly important factor in the expansion of the manufacturing industry. Circulation of money is rising rapidly and in spite of high prices consumption is being stimulated. Speaking of the financial position of the people making sustained buying possible.

"Except in the speculative markets, pressure to sell is conspicuously absent. Productive forces continue overtaxed and full capacity operations are assured for months to come unless labor troubles interfere.

"Special requests for prompt shipment indicate the urgency of current needs, but specified deliveries are made with difficulty and railway facilities are being improved to meet adequately with the rush of traffic."

Bradstreet's says: "Another busy week, however, perhaps than ever before in this season, has just ended. Speaking of a general sense, industry is sold up for months to come, scarcity of materials is patent, demand is apparently insatiable, regardless of prices, and the country is confronted by an extraordinary situation.

"Buyers' excursions to the larger metropolitan cities have brought in an army of workers, and the country is now having an active demand on jobs for textiles, with interior merchants buying freely because of concern over probable lack of supply later on. The feeling in numerous instances this feeling is manifested in requests for prompt shipment of goods required for use this spring, which fact also indicates the extent of light stocks in the hands of final purveyors."

The company has a total of 1,643 stockholders, of whom 208, or 15 per cent., are employees.

WAIST SHOP STRIKES CALLED PLAN TO HURT

Employers Unable to Get Union Leaders to Treat for Peace.

BOTH DUELS INTERESTING

Seventy-five employees, members of the Independent Dress and Waist Protective Association, met last evening in the office of Joseph Nemorov, their representative, at 1441 Broadway, to try to settle the strike that is tying up their business at the rush period of the year. They parted several hours later and Mr. Nemorov announced that they had been unable to get in touch with the union's representatives.

"We sent them word several times that we were willing to agree to reasonable demands," he said. "So far the union has never told us what it asks, and we only know from the vague ideas the strikers themselves have. It is our belief that this strike has been called only for the damage it will do. The strikers were satisfied, apparently, with conditions. No improvement was asked, and all our efforts to get a settlement in order to resume business have been ignored by the union."

An open meeting of the independent manufacturers will be held at 2 o'clock at the Cafe Boulevard at which plans to persuade the union to state its demands and to get the workers back by Monday will be discussed.

At the union quarters it was said yesterday that the 20,000 strikers of the waist and dress trades would return to work by Monday. The independent manufacturers who have expressed a desire to settle would be allowed to resume business at that time. Benjamin Feigelson, president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, expressed a belief that definite progress would be made by the Mayor's board of conciliation at its meeting next Monday.

MEANWHILE A NEW STRIKE—OF THE WAITERS

and restaurant workers of the West Side is brewing. Organizer Joseph of the International Hotel and Restaurant Workers' Alliance said yesterday that the proprietors of restaurants from Third avenue to Ninth avenue, between Canal and Fifty-ninth street, have been asked to agree to demands for shorter hours and better pay. If they fail to grant the demands, Rosenthal said, a strike will be called on Monday. About 15,000 waiters and waitresses are involved.

RAILROAD TRACKMEN STRIKE.

Workers Quit on Jersey Central for Increase in Pay.

Five hundred trackmen working in the section gangs of the Central Railroad of New Jersey quit on strike yesterday in New Jersey City. They wanted their wages increased from $1.25 to $1.50 a day. The company says the men walked out before presenting any demands. Half of the places held by the strikers were filled by a strike later, which was reported. No disorder was reported.

E. T. Dickerson, assistant to the president, said the company expected to have the men all back at work by Monday. The company has a total of 1,643 stockholders, of whom 208, or 15 per cent., are employees.

How Is Your Appetite?

Mr. William Woodhead, of San Francisco, owner of Sunset Magazine and ex-president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, was entertained at dinner recently by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert S. Houston. Mr. Houston is now the president of the Associated Advertising Clubs, and is a partner in the firm of Doubleday, Page & Co.

During the dinner, Mrs. Houston asked Mr. Woodhead at which hotel he was stopping. Her husband had not thought to tell her. Mr. Woodhead said he was stopping at the HOTEL BELLECLAIRE, whereupon Mrs. Houston remarked:

"Oh, that is the hotel that advertised Apple Pie. I have been wanting one of those Apple Pies ever since I read that advertisement."

During Mr. Woodhead's stay in New York, it happened that Mr. Houston wanted to discuss some Associated Advertising Club matters with him, so he was again invited to the Houston home for dinner.

Having in mind what Mrs. Houston had said about the HOTEL BELLECLAIRE Apple Pie, Mr. Woodhead determined to take her one. He did. It came in just right—for the ice cream ordered for dessert had not arrived. So the apple pie was served instead. They all enjoyed it.

If you want an Apple Pie in your home some time, send a messenger to us with $1.00 and you shall have it.

Or come to the hotel for either luncheon or dinner and order a piece of it for dessert.

It is not served for breakfast, but if you are a New Englander and have a recollection of the pies you used to eat for breakfast, come around and we will let you have it for breakfast if you want it.
